Slight Change in Legislative Districts Causes No Problem For Incumbents in Local Area

New boundaries for Illinois General Assembly districts which place the Quad-City area in a new 56th district of 11 townships were approved at Springfield Saturday by the Illinois Legislative Redistricting Commission after weeks of dispute.

The new district alignments which were determined three days before a state constitutional deadline will result in no major changes in the legislative offices of the old 55th Representative district and the 53rd Senatorial district of which the Quad-City area has been a part.

Under the redistricting plan, the state is divided into 59 districts in which the senatorial and representative district boundaries will be the same. Three representatives and one senator will be elected from each district.

All seats in each House will be at stake in the 1972 general elections. The new 56th district will be made up of Granite City, Nameoki, Venice and Chouteau townships of the Quad-City area along with Canton township (St. Clair county), Edwardsville, Alton, Godfrey, More, Omphigott, Fort Russell and Hannel townships and part of Wood River township, that of Wood River township in the new district includes the villages of Bethalto and Hartford.

County in 55th. The remainder of Madison county will be included in a new 55th district along with Bond, Clinton, Marion and Fayette counties.

The East St. Louis area and the northern sector of St. Clair county have been placed in a new 57th district.

The Quad-City area has been in the 55th Representative district made up of Granite City,

Alton, Venice, Nameoki, Chouteau, Wood River and Collinsville townships, and the 53rd senatorial district that included Granite City, Alton, Godfrey, Venice, Wood River, Chouteau, Nameoki and Edwardsville townships. The compromise approved by the redistricting commission left Democratic members of the commission appalled, but the Republicans bitterly divided.

The redistricting was required under the new Illinois Constitution that became effective in July.

Assessments to Start

Reassessment of personal property that had been taken off this year's tax books under a constitutional amendment approved last November will get under way this week in the Quad-City area and other Madison County townships in a program that is expected to prolong extensively the completion of the 1971 assessment books.

The personal property tax indicia may not be reassessed as the result of an Illinois Supreme Court ruling that held the amendment unconstitutional because it removed the tax as to individuals and did not include corporations. The ruling does not affect the statutory removal of assessments on one auto and household furnishings in each family. That exemption will remain, assessment officials said.

James Barton, Granite City township assessor, who met with Dale Hill, supervisor of assessments, and other assessors in Edwardsville late last week to discuss the reassessment program, said his office and most others will make the assessment by mail rather than incur considerable expense by employing a staff for a door-to-door canvass.

"I believe we can do the job for cheaper and a lot quicker by using the mail to send a letter of explanation and an accompanying assessment schedule which the taxpayers will be asked to return by mail," Barton said. He said the taxpayers to whom the schedules will be sent will be those whose names were removed from individual personal property rolls earlier this year.

John Bridick, township assessor of Venice township, and Joseph Cohen, assessor of Nameoki township, said they expect to follow a similar procedure. Hill said the additional work, which comes at a time when virtually all assessment books had been completed, is expected to take at least an additional 30 days and could take as long as two months. He said his office originally planned to handle the reassessment for all townships that had completed their books and turned them over to the Board of Review, but because of the vast amount of work involved he has requested that township assessors take on the job of handling the assessment in their own townships.

"All have indicated they will cooperate and this could speed up the job considerably," Hill said. "Still, it will be a lot of work and some delay in completing this year's assessment books naturally can be expected."

Property to Be Taxed
The personal property assessment will involve replacing on the assessment books the valuation of individual personal property that is in excess of one auto and household furnishings exempted by the 1969 legislative act. The assessors also must restate the personal assessments on small businesses and all commercial firms, and all bank shares which also had been removed under the constitutional amendment.

GC Tax Collection Period Ends Friday

Granite City tax collections will be discontinued locally at the end of the day's business at the office of City Treasurer Paul Rutledge, on Friday, it was announced today.

The local tax collection period opened June 28 and taxpayers since have paid bills totaling nearly $4 million, Rutledge said. Granite City taxpayers are charged with payment of $9,621,739 in locally extended taxes this year.

Rutledge urged taxpayers to make their payments at the city hall because the city receives a 2% commission on all tax payments made here. After the books are closed Friday night and returned later to the county treasurer, commission fees of 3% will go to the county collector for all payments made there.

Assailant Beats Man; Rams Auto in Rear

Jon Stuart, 27, of 2815 Lincoln Ave., was treated at St. Elizabeth Hospital at 3 a.m. Saturday for injuries received when beaten about the face and head by an assailant the victim failed to identify.

Stuart told police he was driving in the 2600 block of 23rd Street about 2:15 a.m. Saturday when he was rammed in the rear of his car by a dark-colored sedan. Alighting from his vehicle, Stuart said he approached the driver of the second car who jumped out and began striking Stuart with his fists and kicked him several times about the head and face.

Stuart told hospital authorities he lapsed into unconsciousness for a short time. He was treated for contusions and abrasions to the face, nose and head and released.

BIRTHDAY SURPRISE. Dan Walker, candidate for Illinois governor who is walking the length of the state to carry his campaign to the people, was joined by all of his family on his walk through Mitchell and Granite City Saturday because it was his 49th birthday. The youngest Walker is Will, 8, on his father's right; holding hands with her husband is Mrs. Roberta Walker. Margaret, 11, is next to her mother. Partially hidden behind her father is Robbie, 14, and from left to right in rear is Cathy, 23; Julie Ann, 21; Charles, 16, and Dan Jr., 22. The family left Granite City yesterday to walk to Alton.

Walking Candidate Visits Area; Joined by Family

Dan Walker, walking candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, walked through Mitchell and Granite City Saturday on his 1,000 mile zig-zag marathon walk through Illinois "to meet the people."

The candidate's jaunt through this area was a departure from his regular routine. He was accompanied by his entire family.

Walker was joined early Saturday morning as he began his walk from Holiday Inn at Sunset Hill toward Granite City by his wife and four daughters as a surprise on his 49th birthday. His two sons, Dan Jr., 22, and Charles, 16, have accompanied their father on the 340 miles he already has walked in his campaign tour.

The family walked down Route 66 to Route 203 and over 203 into Granite City where they were guests Saturday evening of Richard Allen, 2623 Delmar Ave. Walker conferred with civic and business leaders and Democratic and independent leaders at a reception at the Allen home.

Walker told the Press-Record that the purpose of the walk is "to learn more about the citizens of Illinois and I want to learn more about their needs and what they expect from their government."

"More than anything else so far, I have found that people feel that they are cut off from government, that state government doesn't care."

Accept Their Obligation
"People pay their taxes; they accept that obligation. But what they object to is paying new taxes, and seeing spending immediately zoom up to eat up that tax increase. Our state budget has tripled in the last four years, but services and programs have not tripled."

In the last two years alone, the payroll has gone up by 12,000 persons, costing us more than a quarter of a billion dollars a year."

Walker's campaign is unique in Illinois annals. In addition to being well on his way toward walking the length of the state, Walker is the first Democrat to announce beforehand that he will not seek the endorsement of the Democratic slatemakers.

Walker's candidacy assures the first contested statewide Democratic primary since 1969 since called at 4 a.m. Sunday at 913 Madison Ave.

However, even in those contested primaries, all the candidates sought the endorsement of the slatemakers. Then, after failing to be stated, they waged a primary fight.

The Walker family came into Granite City on Madison Avenue and went to the Granite City Steel Co. where Walker talked with men entering and leaving the plant. The walk continued down Nineteenth Street where Walker spent nearly an hour talking with persons attending Granite City's sidewalk sales. "There were thousands of people there," he said.

They left Granite City Sunday morning and walked to Wood River, from where the group was to leave this morning for Madison.

Taken to the police station on the charges, with the assistance of Venice police, were: Robert J. Rickert, 19, of 1717 Third St., Madison; Charles K. Milton, 23, of 2612 Madison Ave.; Albert C. Delahoye, 28, of Rural Route Two; Johnny P. Liska, 24, of 1600 Ames Ave.; Vicky Smith, 20, of 1722 Kennedy Drive, Madison; Sue Zwilling, 25, of 913 Madison Ave., and Victoria A. Tinnin, 19, of 913 Madison Ave.

They were released on $500 bonds set by Judge Roy Strawn pending a hearing at 10 a.m. Aug. 25 in Madison.

Child Rides Bike Into Auto's Path

A 7-year-old girl apparently was uninjured when she rode her bicycle from a driveway at the rear of 3188 Aubrey Ave. into the path of an eastbound auto on Jell Avenue at 4:45 p.m. Friday.

Angela Naglich, 7, of 3144 Aubrey Ave., appeared unharmed and the child's mother said treatment at the hospital was not necessary, police said. Driver of the auto was Patricia M. Jenkins, 16, of 3157 Jell Ave.

Hurt Playing Ball

Robert Dawes, 25, of 3000 National St., was hit by a softball at 8:30 p.m. Saturday and taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital where he received six sutures in the upper lip. He was released following treatment.

Area Traffic Fatalities Up 136% Over Last Year

The traffic fatality ratio in the Quad-City area during the first seven months of this year skyrocketed 136% over that of the same period last year, with a total of 33 deaths due to traffic crashes, a compilation of statistics showed today.

In comparison, 14 persons died as the result of traffic accidents during the seven-month period of 1970—nearly twice as many as in the same period last year.

In contrast, however, the number of all types of traffic accidents during the seven-month period has declined sharply for a total of 1,175 this year compared with 1,464 during the same period of 1970—a drop of 24%.

The number of injuries resulting from traffic accidents occurring in the Quad-City area so far this year also has dropped substantially. Records show a total of 584 persons have been injured in accidents in the area so far this year, a decrease of 163 injury cases, or 28%, below the total of 747 persons hurt in traffic mishaps during the first seven months of 1970.

Records show that six fatalities occurred in January, five more than occurred in January 1970. Only one fatality occurred in February, the smallest

Illinois Revenue at $4 Billion for 1970

Copley News Service
Springfield—For fiscal 1970, Illinois' general revenue amounted to $4,044,801,000, with $2,868,694,000 produced by taxes, according to the Taxpayers' Federation of Illinois.

The figures, released by Maurice W. Scott, executive vice-president of the TFI, show that on a per capita basis, the total state general revenue in Illinois for the fiscal year ending last June was $363.94, compared to a 50 state average of $364.11.

The total Illinois general expenditure for all functions in the state on a per capita basis was $342.85, somewhat less than the 50 state average of $353.35.

On April 1, 1970, the report shows, the state's population was 11,115,976. Personal income during 1969 had been $47,340,000, which broke down on a per person basis to $4,285. This places Illinois sixth in this regard in the nation, topped by Connecticut with $4,585, Alaska with $4,560, Nevada with $4,465, and New York with $4,442, and California with $4,290.

The report shows that revenue of all state governments from all sources totaled approximately $88.9 billion in fiscal 1970, an increase of 14.6% over fiscal 1969.

The figures, obtained from the U. S. department of commerce's bureau of the census, showed that state government expenditures kept pace during the period, rising by 14.5 percent to a total of about $85.1 billion in fiscal 1970.

Cities Sued Over Death of German Shepherd Canine

Death of a dog has resulted in the filing of a suit against the Cities of Granite City and Madison seeking damages of $5,000 to be paid to the estate of a German Shepherd dog named James Stuart, 3001 E. 23rd St. in Madison County Circuit Court.

The complaint alleges that on May 15, 1971, Stuart was owner of a purebred German shepherd dog registered with the American Kennel Club and valuable for breeding purposes.

The dog had broken a chain attached to it to a dog house and bit a boy, Ray Smith, who had been playing in a vacant lot adjoining the Stuart home, according to the complaint which continued:

"The police department from Granite City and humane officers from Granite City and Madison were called to restrain the dog but caused the destruction of the dog.

"Tranquilizer Gun
"They failed to trap the dog with netting or similar devices, failed to claim the dog, permitted a large crowd to gather to excite the dog and hinder the efforts of capture, fired a tranquilizer gun at the dog, not knowing the dosage being used or possible side effects and fired the gun from an angle that was likely to result in serious disability or death of the dog, and because of the negligence, the dog died."

A second count charges that the defendants negligently failed to preserve the dog so that evidence could be established as to determine if it was rabid, and as a result the Smith boy was required to undergo a series of painful and distressing inoculations.

Disclaims Liability
The complaint claims that any liability asserted by the boy is the result of negligent acts and omissions of the defendants and they should be required to indemnify Stuart for any liability asserted against him.

It continued that "contrary to the facts, the defendants asserted and maintained that Stuart received a kennel license from the city on Feb. 24, 1969, and that it has been renewed through May 1, 1972."

However, on June 3, he received from Robert Stevens, city clerk, a letter stating his license had not been issued for three years and a license would not be issued in the future.

Enclosed in the letter, according to the complaint, was $75 in cash which Stuart has retained and will turn over to the court.

The suit claims that Stuart has complied in all respects with all valid ordinances and his continued operation of a kennel will not conflict with any valid ordinance; that he was not informed of any valid reason for refusal to issue requested licenses.

He asks that the court command Granite City to issue the license to operate a kennel and for either relief the court deems just and proper, plus costs of the suit.

Copies of the licenses and of Stevens' letter were filed with the complaint.

Lieutenant Governor Duties Trimmed In New Constitution; Few Want Job

By KEN WATSON
Copley News Service
Springfield—Who wants to be lieutenant governor?

Nobody.

At least that's the usual State-house smart-aleck answer and it's not so very far from wrong. Under the new state Constitution the lieutenant governor becomes even more of a nonentity function-wise than he has been.

He will not even preside over the Senate as has been his main responsibility up to now. That job falls to the Senate President Pro Tem or majority leader.

The new Constitution sums up the duties of the office in this crisp sentence: "The Lieutenant Governor shall perform the duties and exercise the powers in the Executive Branch that may be delegated to him by the Governor and that may be prescribed by law."

It is small wonder then that there has been virtually no speculation as to whom either Republicans or Democrats might nominate for that office.

About the only major gubernatorial aspirant to even mention the subject has been State Auditor Michael J. Howlett who has stated that "I would welcome any outstanding and qualified man."

In the end, however, the selection of a lieutenant governor nominee may prove more important than it looks right now. For 1972 will mark the first time in Illinois that the governor and lieutenant governor will run as a pair just like the President and Vice-President.

In a close election the man selected for lieutenant governor might make the difference as to who wins and who loses for governor.

On the Democratic side the winter state-making presided over by Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley will undoubtedly make the selection. The Republican lieutenant governor choice will probably be decided in the primary although there could be some general agreement by the State Central Committee in advance.

Even under the old system the office rarely stirred much competition in the primary. However, that strange presiding over a revision of the Constitution has been an exception with seven Republican candidates, four of them considered major contenders.

Among the contenders are John Henry Altorf of Peoria now in a hard-fought scramble, but went down before Democratic incumbent Samuel H. Shapiro in the Lyndon Johnson landslide.

As it the case with national ticket there is likely to be some attempt by both parties at effecting geographical balance. If the gubernatorial nominee is from Chicago the lieutenant governor choice is likely to be a Downstate and vice versa.

But why would anyone want a job that offers so little to do, promises only frustration and occasionally humiliation?

The big reason, of course, is that there is always the possibility of succession to governor. Henry Horner was the last Illinois governor to die in office, but Otto Kernier resigned before the end of his second term to accept a federal court appointment.

There is always the possibility also that a vacancy could occur in the U.S. Senate and the Governor would arrange to step out and have himself appointed to that more comfortable if not prestigious post.

It is considered poor taste to mention it at the Statehouse, but modern governors do a lot of flying and plane crashes do occur.

There is always the possibility, too, that an Illinois governor could wind-up being nominated for President and the lieutenant governor could then step up.

New Policy on Free, Lower Price School Lunches Here

Community Unit School District Nine of Granite City is announcing a revision of the policy used to determine children eligible to receive free or reduced price lunches.

The school district has long recognized the need for helping meet the nutritional needs of students; a well-balanced nutritious lunch is served each school day at all schools in the Granite City district, a spokesman noted.

The charge to students who can pay is 45 cents at junior and senior high schools and 40 cents in elementary schools daily.

However, since some families may find it difficult to pay the full price for their children, the school will provide these lunches free or at a reduced price to those children determined eligible. Dale C. Rea, assistant to the superintendent, is the authority responsible for making determinations.

"Families who believe that their children may be eligible for free or reduced price lunches are urged to apply. Copies of the application form and information regarding procedures for application will be sent to each parent," a spokesman said.

"Additional copies may be obtained at any school or the complete district policy may be reviewed by any interested parent at the Board of Education Office, 20th and Adams Streets."

The completed application, signed by an adult family member, should be sent to any school attended by a child in the family. Such applications will be reviewed within five days and the family will be notified in writing of the decision made.

"Information provided on the application will be held in the strictest confidence. Decisions for approval will be based primarily on the family income level according to a national guideline used by participating schools throughout the United States."

MORE ABOUT Area Traffic

number in any one traffic year, but seven more occurred in March. Two traffic deaths occurred in April and three in May.

Statistics for July recorded four traffic deaths. Three of these involved local area residents killed in traffic accidents within the area, while the fourth involved a Granite City man killed in an accident near St. Elizabeth, Mo.

A total of 165 accidents was reported in the area during July, with 104 persons injured. These statistics varied only slightly from the June accident record of 168 accidents and 101 persons injured.

1970 Comparison

During July 1970, a total of 169 accidents was reported, with 168 persons injured, but only one fatality.

Five persons died this year in crashes at intersections of Granite City streets with FA Route 151. These included a two-car collision in which a 13-year-old boy was fatally injured in July 7; a two-car collision June 15 in which an 18-year-old youth was killed, and an accident on March 25 in which a woman and two children were killed.

The accident claiming three lives occurred at the Rock Road intersection of FA Route 151. The July 7 crash occurred on North Street and the other at West 20th Street.

The total of 33 traffic deaths thus far this year is 11 more than the 22 deaths occurring in traffic crashes during all 12 months of 1970.

The present record of traffic deaths for any single year was set in 1954 when 44 traffic fatalities were recorded.

The attendants, Mrs. Linda Flach, a sister of the bride, as matron of honor, and three bridesmaids, Miss Elaine Scott, Miss Marsha Stovall and Mrs.

Ruth Gage, were dressed alike in maize sateu trim with white Venice lace and leaf green ribbon.

The gowns were designed with high necks trimmed with lace and green ribbon. The full sleeves had wide cuffs of lace and the bodices were moulded to the Empire waists to reveal semi-full bouffant skirts. Leaf green ribbons were used at the waists and on the hemlines. Matching headpieces featured bouffant face veils and all held cascades of assorted daisies.

A little flower girl, Faith Pryor, the bride's cousin, was dressed in green organza patterned with daisies and a yellow ribbon sash. She held a basket of colorful daisies.

Andrew Balsai, a cousin of the bridegroom, was best man, and the list of groomsmen and ushers included Mike Williams, John Gitcho, Dennis Roastie, John Kovach, the bridegroom's brother and Terry Flach, a brother-in-law of the bride.

Thomas Kusley, the bridegroom's cousin, carried the rings.

When they return from a honeymoon in New York the newlyweds will live at 2916 Faith Ave.

The former Miss Walker is a 1970 graduate of the Granite City High School. She was a member of Red Peppers and the National Honor Society. At present she holds a secretarial position with the Mallinckrodt Chemical Co., in St. Louis.

B&PW Club Plans Jubilee Parade Entry

Committee reports and plans for a dinner meeting Wednesday, Aug. 18, were the main topic of discussion of the Granite City Business and Professional Women's Club at a general business meeting held last week at the East Side Levee board office. The newly-elected president, Mrs. Pauline Weir, presided.

Mrs. Sylvia Wright, treasurer, reported a total of 77 dues-paying members at the beginning of the new club year. Mrs. Bonnie Laxson, membership chairman, submitted an application for membership from Mrs. Geraldine Brandly, which was approved by the board members. Mrs. Brandly is employed as a teller at the First Granite City National Bank.

Assistance was sought by Mrs. Lorene Sadrakula to prepare the B&PW Club's entry in the Diamond Jubilee parade Aug. 21. The project chairman said that additional artificial flowers are needed to decorate the Jubilee float.

In reference to reporting meetings and related items of interest, Mrs. Ann Burton, public relations chairman, asked club leaders to notify her promptly when they occur. Budget outlines for consideration should be submitted by chairman at a meeting of the finance committee set for 7 p.m. Wednesday in the home of Mrs. Sadrakula, 1600 Second St., Madison. Mrs. Weir reminded the group.

Plans for a 6:30 p.m. dinner meeting, to take place Aug. 18 at the Officers Club, Headquarters Installation Support Activity, formerly the Army Depot, were finalized at a special meeting also held last week with Mrs. Geneva Grady, 3157 Myrtle Ave.

Mrs. Grady and Mrs. Lil Marzluf, co-chairmen of the event, will be assisted by key women from each B&PW committee in presenting a program entitled "Get Involved—Throw Your Hat in the Ring." All members were urged to attend the first dinner session.

Mrs. Pearl Ryckman, a charter member of the local B&PW club, attended last week's general business session. She discussed the formation of the Granite City chapter, noting the club officially was started in November 1921 and granted a charter the following year.

A celebration is planned in observance of the club's 50th anniversary and a book reviewing the history of the organization is being prepared for distribution to members, it was announced.

Reisinger Girl Wins Swim Meet Trophy

A brilliant individual performance by Karen Reisinger, 14, won the trophy at the Clayton-Shaw Park Open Swim Meet in St. Louis. Karen won the 100-meter butterfly, 200-meter individual medley, and 400-meter individual medley.

Karen won seven first-place medals in the three-day meet which concluded Friday evening. Overall team honors went to the Wichita, Kan., Swim Club.

Competing in the open age division, although eligible to swim in the 12-14 age group, Karen recorded first-place marks in the 400-meter individual medley and freestyle events; 200-meter individual medley, freestyle, breaststroke and butterfly; and the 100-meter breaststroke.

She also earned a second-place ribbon in the 100-meter butterfly, missing first by four-tenths of a second.

Karen Reisinger, Potential Olympic Star, Sets U.S. Meets as First Goal

By VALERIE EVENDEN
Press-Record Staff Writer

Probably the best athlete the Quad-City area has produced in the past decade and the only swimmer to focus national attention on the bi-state metropolitan region in several years is a young, blonde-haired girl with a talent far greater than her slender 5 feet, 4½ inch frame implies.

Karen Reisinger, age 14, perhaps is destined to become the first Olympic candidate the local area has contributed to the international world of great athletes.

Just to stay in condition, the Granite City girl swims a minimum of 8,000 plus yards (close to 5 miles) each day—six days every week. Her total yardage exceeds 27 miles on a weekly basis.

This week the mileage will increase somewhat as she is competing in the National AAU Junior Olympics at the U.S.

Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs, Colo.

At the championship meet, she will match her talents against youngsters from every state, including Hawaii, in the 100-meter butterfly and 200-meter individual medley events.

Regional Champion

Karen qualified for the national meet by capturing first place medals on July 28 at the Region VIII Junior Olympic Championships at Creekmore Park, Fort Smith, Ark., where she earned the right to represent the states of Arkansas, Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma and the southern section of Illinois.

Both contests in which Karen will compete at the Junior Olympics in Colorado are sprint events—short distances—and, despite her slight frame, the local swimmer's specialty and her most outstanding ability centers on the one-mile swim, a distance event in which strength and stamina in equal proportions are vital requirements.

Later this month she will get the opportunity to display her prowess in the metric mile when she represents the same Region VIII in the open age National AAU Championship Meet at Houston, Tex.

Top Women Swimmers

At Houston, the local girl will mesh strokes with all the top-ranked women swimmers in the United States. She qualified for the U.S. meet last weekend, also at Fort Smith, by winning gold medals in the 200-meter butterfly, 400-meter individual medley and the 1,500-meter event.

In accomplishing the feat, Karen smashed her own record-breaking times and established new Region VIII marks in all three events.

Until this summer, Karen's competition topped at the diminutive champion as the swimmers stood at attention on the starting blocks before assuming the familiar crouch which enables them to enter the water with maximum efficiency.

"She has grown this year and doesn't look so out of place next to the larger girls as she has in the past," her mother, Mrs. Herbert Reisinger, commented with a smile.

Karen, who entered Prather Junior High School as a 9th grade student this fall, began swimming in the Granite City Park District's learn-to-swim program when she was 8-years-old, Mrs. Reisinger said.

The youngster quickly progressed through the tadpole, minnow and other novice swimmer classifications with lessons at the Tri-Cities Area YMCA and within a very short time showed a definite aptitude toward competitive swimming.

Coe From Holland

Three years ago she started swimming in more concentrated style under the supervision of a fine coach, Kees Oudegeest, a native of Holland who successfully promoted an entirely new type of swim program at the East St. Louis YMCA.

Oudegeest, a former champion swimmer and a dedicated professional, gave Karen the push and insight needed for competitive swimming.

His direction enabled her to reduce the times in the various strokes and perfect her techniques—both essential factors in a sport in which a fraction of a second frequently determines the winner.

The Granite City girl joined the East St. Louis YMCA swim team, among the strongest squads in Illinois, and at 11-years-old was winning ribbons and medals.

Her performance has become more polished and resulted in wins against stiffer competition as she continued through age group swimming in YMCA state and national meets and the fiercely competitive Ozark AAU Association.

Qualifies at 13

As a 13-year-old, Karen qualified last year for the National AAU Championships winning the 400-meter individual medley and the 200-meter breaststroke in Region VIII finals.

Just one week previously, she also qualified for the 1,500 meter event at Quincy after missing the qualifying time by a half-second in Evansville, Ind.

Also in 1970 she captured two silver medals in the National AAU Swim Meet.

Oudegeest moved to Little Rock, Ark., last year and Mrs. Shirley Beal of Caseyville took over the coaching task.

coach who was selected from the five-state midwestern area.

She starts at 5 a.m. Calling "super-swimmer" by a Indiana coach who watched her performance last year, Karen concentrates her total energies on swimming, especially during the summer months.

She is a year-around swimmer and maintains a rigid practice schedule even in winter, spring and fall. Every day, the Granite City girl arises at 5 a.m., without prodding from her mother. She works out from 6 to 8 a.m. at the Jones Park outdoor pool, comes home to eat, releases a short time then sleeps. From 6 to 7 p.m. Karen is back swimming at the East St. Louis YMCA usually accomplishing between 4,000 and 4,500 yards at a stretch.

"She does some chores around the house and watches television," her mother said, "but she mainly concentrates on her swimming."

Karen has three sisters to assist with the household tasks, all of whom are or have been competitive swimmers. Deborah is 17, Geri, 16, and Judy, 12. Judy also has won medals in AAU competition.

"It is pretty hard sometimes running back and forth to the practice sessions, but we think it is worth it," Mrs. Reisinger commented, noting that she and her husband are now experiencing some relief in the driving chores since Deborah received her operator's license.

Expenses Come High

Expenses of sending one of four daughters to national meets is quite a burden on the family, it was learned. At only one national contest—this week's meet sponsored by the Quaker Oats Co.—the expenses would be anyone other than the contestants herself.

It can be really rough when you know she should go and finances must be considered, the mother said.

"Father Mangan at St. Joseph's was wonderful last year in helping to get sponsors so Karen could take part in the national AAU meet, but you can't continue to ask the same sponsors to help again," she added.

Although her immediate thoughts and energy are directed toward this month's national championship meets, Karen's eyes flash even brighter blue when she talks about the U.S. Olympic trials in 1972.

Olympic Trials in '72 Nodding her head and smiling, the youthful champion said, "I really would like the chance to go and try for the team."

The trials probably will be held on the west coast and from them it determined the best swimmers to represent the United States in the Olympic Games at Munich, Germany, next summer.

In line with her current performances, Karen appears to have an excellent chance to qualify for the trials, local swimming authorities believe.

One major hitch the plan may lie in the area of finances. It has been suggested by persons outside the family that a fund be established to afford the young swimmer an opportunity to take up the most important and demanding challenge of her career.

"It seems that the community could do something to help Karen financially," a local swimming enthusiast commented. "She is that good and deserves the chance," he added.

Those making the trip to Joliet are the finalists in an original field of nearly 40,000 who entered local meets in 203 different towns earlier this summer. To win the expense paid trip, each contestant was required to finish first in his event at both the local and regional levels of competition.

The big sports program, heretofore both as a youth fitness project and delinquency prevention activity, is sponsored jointly by the Illinois Jaycees, the Illinois Department of Corrections, and the Governor's Office of Human Resources.

Competition in field events will be held Friday afternoon, and track preliminaries will be run Friday evening. Track finals Saturday morning will be followed by a luncheon and awards ceremony Saturday afternoon.

On hand to congratulate the winners at the ceremony will be Peter B. Bensinger, director of the Department of Corrections; Paul J. Winner, director of the Governor's Office of Human Resources; Stan Sieron of Belleville, state president of the Jaycees; and O. Fraser "Fritz" Young of Joliet, state Jaycee chairman for the Jaycees.

Hunting Season Dates Designated for State

Hunting season dates for quail, cock pheasants, Hungarian partridge, mourning doves, woodcock, snipe and rabbit in Illinois have been approved by the Conservation Advisory Board, according to Henry N. Barkhausen, director of the Illinois Department of Conservation.

The quail, pheasant and Hungarian partridge season will begin at noon, Nov. 13, and continue through Dec. 31. There is a limit of eight birds per day on quail with a possession limit of 16. The possession limit is eight during the first day of the season.

The limit of cock pheasants is two per day with a possession limit of four after the first day's hunt. Hungarian partridge will also have a daily bag limit of two with a possession limit of four after the first day's hunt. Shooting hours are noon until sunset on the first day, and sunrise to sunset for the rest of the hunting season.

The mourning dove season will begin at noon Sept. 1, and end Nov. 8. Shooting hours will be from noon until sunset on all days of the season. The daily bag limit for doves is 12 per day, with a possession limit of 24.

The woodcock season this year will start at sunrise, Oct. 15 and continue through Dec. 15. All shooting must be done from sunrise to sunset during the season. The daily limit for woodcocks is five, with a possession limit of ten.

The hunting season for Wilson's snipe will begin at sunrise, Oct. 15, and continue through Dec. 15. Hunting hours are sunrise to sunset and the bag limit is eight per day. The possession limit is 16 on snipe.

Rabbit season this year will begin at noon Nov. 13 and continue through Jan. 31, 1979. Shooting hours after sunrise to sunset. The daily bag limit for rabbit is five with possession limit after the first day being ten.

Record Broken
Records are made to be broken, and in the Illinois Record Fish Contest they sometimes are broken fast. Henry N. Barkhausen, Director of the Illinois Department of Conservation, announced that the one-week-old state record for brown trout has been broken already. Barkhausen said that Dick Zbynski, Waukegan, landed a 12 pound 2 ounce brown trout in Lake Michigan to break the old record of 11 pounds, 4 ounces. Zbynski's trout was 28 1/2 inches in total length and had a girth of 19 1/4 inches. He caught the fish using a Thin Fim lure.

The old record was announced by the Department of Conservation on July 18, and was held by George P. Commons, also of Waukegan.

Census Taken
A summer breeding population census was recently completed for dove, quail, pheasant, squirrel and rabbit in Illinois. The count was conducted by district game biologists operating throughout the state, according to Jim Lockart, supervisor of the Division of Wildlife Resources.

"These are only breeding population counts," Lockart said. "They are not total populations of the species. They are only estimates made on a statewide basis. In some areas the breeding populations may be much higher or lower than the average for the state. While these counts may give us an indication of what to expect this fall, we cannot be sure what the fall population will be until we complete brood counts in late summer or early fall."

The breeding population for mourning dove shows an increase of approximately 15% over last year's figure. It is about the same as it was in 1969. Route counts in the far northwest indicate a dove population of about the same as last year. Throughout the rest of the state the count showed about a 15% increase.

The breeding population of quail is lower on a statewide basis than last year, according to the census. In the major quail range in the south and southwest areas of the state the breeding population is approximately 25% lower, with the rest of the state being about the same as last year.

It is too early to get brood counts for pheasants although biologists say there are indications that the breeding population is within 10% of last year's count. In the major pheasant ranges in central and east central Illinois, biologists have found a few more early broods of pheasants than during last year.

The breeding population of squirrels indicates they are slightly fewer in number throughout the state than they were last year.

In north central Illinois, the cottontail population is up slightly from last year. The same holds true for the northern part of the state. However, the northwest and extreme northern counties indicate a decrease in the population. In the south central counties, the breeding population is about the same as last year, and it is slightly less than last year's population in the far southern counties.

Closed Counties
Twenty counties are no longer accepting deer hunting permit applications. They are: Carroll, Grundy, Jo Daviess, LaSalle, Marshall and McHenry.

Third Student Loan Allocation By A. O. Smith

The local A. O. Smith Corp. plant has, for the third successive year, made available to the Southern Illinois University Foundation a student loan fund of $300.

Purpose of this fund is to provide assistance to students who are dependent children of A. O. Smith employees and, secondly, to provide assistance to students who graduate from high school in Granite City, Madison and Venice.

Contributions will be restricted to full-time students of SIU-SW. The loan will be interest free, and will be repaid to the University Foundation at the rate of $4.07 per month beginning on the tenth month after the recipient is no longer a full-time student at the university.

Students who qualify must make their request to the personnel manager's office of the A. O. Smith Corp., Granite City, Ill., who will certify their eligibility and forward the applications to the university. Requests must be received by Sept. 1, 1971.

Selections will be made from applications on hand as of Sept. 1 by the Scholarship and Loan Committee of the university.

In addition to the $300 student loan fund, the A. O. Smith plant also has again contributed a $50 annual Honor's Award in Physics. This award will be made to upper classmen majoring in physics; selections will be made by a committee appointed by the dean of the Science and Technology Division and the chairman of the Faculty of Physics.

An agreement on disposition of these funds was worked out by Paul H. Kelly, plant manager of the local A. O. Smith plant, and Charles Schweitzer, assistant director, Southern Illinois University Foundation.

Cleaning Shop Entered; Register Drawer Taken

Burglars entered One-Hour Martinizing Cleaners, 2043 Madison Ave., Friday night, taking a drawer from the cash register containing about $4 in change, Thomas Smith, manager, reported at 7:30 a.m. Saturday. An inventory of clothing was being made to determine if any garments were missing, he said.

Entry into the building was gained by knocking out a cardboard panel on a side overhead door which adjoins the cleaning firm. A lock on a trap door leading into the cleaners was smashed and the burglars crawled through the door into the shop, police said.

Census Bureau Will Check Employment

Representatives of the Bureau of the Census, U. S. Department of Commerce, will visit a number of households in this area the week of Aug. 16 to obtain information on employment here. Curtis T. Hill, director of the Census Bureau office in Chicago, is making the announcement, saying the households are among the 50,000 across the country that have been scientifically selected to represent a cross section of the American people.

The survey, which the Bureau conducts each month for the U. S. Department of Labor, provides a continuing measure of employment and unemployment for the Nation. For example, on a seasonally adjusted basis, the overall unemployment rate dropped from 6.5% in May to 5.6% in June. Total employment fell one-half mil-

The Schermer Bulletin:

We had so many favorable comments on the "Progress Reports" that we published while we were out of business that we decided that every Monday we would write a little column to continue to keep you informed. This is the first.
The first week of "Grand Opening" is now behind us and we only have one word for it, that is "fantastic". Tuesday morning customers were waiting outside the door. We were just overwhelmed with the sincere comments which were, "we sure are glad you opened", or "we sure missed your store", or "we sure are happy to be 'home' again." Then there were a lot of tales of bad experiences in other stores, but we're not about to publish any of this. Oh yes, how about "we're so happy you put everything back in the same place."
All of our people were just tickled with your comments and our Meat Cutters reported that they felt that some of the ladies were going to jump over the counter to kiss them. At any rate, we're back and you're back, and judging from the business in the store it looks like you brought a few new friends with you too. Our people really worked like Trojans to make the Aug. 3 deadline. We felt that we had to try and make it if possible and try we did. Many of our people worked long overtime hours but it was worth it. All we can say to you is, "thank you for coming back. Schermer's customers are the greatest!!!!"

Leo and Avery

P. S. You'll notice we are now calling ourselves Schermer Bros. the ONE STOP Supermarket. This is because literally hundreds of you called our attention to the fact, that before the fire you did all of your shopping in our store. During the time we were out, the report is that you had to shop three or four stores in order to get the job done and then, many of items that you were used to buying in our store, just were not available anywhere. Thank you all for the suggestion. We're now "THE 1 STOP SUPERMARKET."

MASTER OF FLAMENCO GUITAR Carlos Montoya. He will be heard in a concert at 8:30 p.m. Thursday, Aug. 12, at the Mississippi River Festival at SIU-SW.

Carlos Montoya to Perform at Festival

The world famous master of the flamenco guitar, Carlos Montoya, will be heard in a concert at the Mississippi River Festival at 8:30 p.m. Thursday at the Southern Illinois University-Southwestern campus.

One of the most widely heard performers in any concert, Montoya has brought flamenco music to virtually every major outpost of the free world, from the United States to Europe and the Orient, eliciting critical acclaim everywhere.

A Spanish gypsy, born in Madrid, Montoya was a musical prodigy, achieving national renown by the age of 14 when he was the toast of the "Caudros Flamencos", the heyday of flamenco singing and dancing.

His debut as a concert artist was preceded by years of accompanying such distinguished dancers as La Argentina, Vicente Esudero and Argentina.

Montoya says that the essence of flamenco is the improvisation, and he rarely plays a selection the same way twice. He says, "If you stop to think about it when you are playing, the spirit just disappears."

Critics say that the affection and emotion Montoya infuses into his music is invariably reflected in the reactions of his audiences, and this reaction never fails to make its impact in the guitarist.

Flamenco is the man's life, his ruling passion. In Montoya, the musical world has an artist who is truly in love with his work, although he insists that "music is not his life," he states simply, "my life."

GIRL SCOUT CARAVAN

TO EUROPE AUG. 10

Neighborhood Three Girl Scouts were hostesses for a bon voyage party at Wilson Park for several adults and Senior Scouts from the Granite City area who are going on a three-week European caravan Aug. 10.

Table appointments carried out the tour theme with European travelogues and a large cake decorated in red, white, blue, green and yellow with a motif symbolic of a patch that each member of the caravan will display on her clothing. Each guest was presented with gifts for the District Four leadership.

Forty-two adults and seniors will depart by bus from the River Bluffs Council office in Edwardsville Tuesday for Chicago. The group will meet in Amsterdam by its "traveling hotel," seven mobile campers in which the participants will live during their drive through Europe.

The group will visit Brussels, Belgium, Paris, France; Geneva, Adelboden, and Lucerne in Switzerland; Como, Milan and Venice in Italy; Innsbruck, Austria; and Oberammergau, Munich, Rothenburg, Heidelberg and St. Goarhausen in Germany.

A highlight will be the stay at Adelboden, Switzerland, home of the scout "Chalet," an international center for Girl Guides and Girl Scouts and Heidelberg, headquarters of Troops on Foreign Soil, which represents Girl Scout troops organized in foreign countries.

The "caravan" will camp overnight on sites outside of the cities to be visited. During the stay in Paris, the group will camp within the city. The good will ambassadors will depart from Amsterdam Aug. 31 for the trip home.

Attending were caravan members, Mrs. Doris Stotz, board member and finance chairman, Mrs. Arlene Brinkmeyer, board member, who also serves on the camp development committee, Mrs. Virginia Mariette, chairman of District Four, Mrs. Phyllis Busciti, troop consultant for Neighborhood Four, Mrs. Ruth McCarty, an associate member who will serve as caravan nurse, and her daughter, Miss Mary McCarthy; Senior Scouts of Troop 1177, Linda Oram and Phyllis Barnes; Senior Scout Diane Parrish of Troop 538; and leaders and guests, Mesdames Julie Barnes, Myra Parrish, Denise Schmitz, Carmen Grider, Ruth Schreiber, JoAnn Jarrett, Annette Scrum, Barbara Blackburn, Vivian Davis, Joan Oram and Doris Stotz and Miss Carolyn Votaw.

Priority List on 1972 Potential Inductions

Priorities for military inductions in 1972, assuming the draft is reinstated, were determined by lot on Thursday, with Dec. 4 birthdays chosen as No. 1 and Nov. 1 selected as last for call-up. Men born in 1952 and with numbers above 190 are not expected to be drafted; perhaps only a much lower number will be reached.

Those born in 1951 or earlier keep the draft numbers assigned in two previous lotteries.

Air Control Rules On Meeting Agenda

Proposals on new regulations of the state Environmental Protection Agency will be discussed during the regular meeting of the Granite City Air Pollution Control Board at 7:30 p.m. today on the third floor of the city hall.

The present status of the federal grant for funding a full-time air pollution control department in the city also will be discussed.

Among items of business on the meeting agenda will be discussion on the appointment of a board vice-chairman to assist Henry S. Beniciek, chairman. The possibility of an air pollution control exhibit at Wilson Park during the Diamond Jubilee week will be considered.

Citizen's complaints of air pollution and data on air quality samples taken in June and July will be presented to the board.

Food for Thought

In just about every home, the television set creates many problems, such as quarrels about what to watch, and parents worry about wrong impressions their children may receive.

We are concerned about such passive entertainment, with so much time spent on "trash."

You find that homework is neglected because of the "time" evenning programs. Bedtime is ignored because the bad programs come on late.

In some homes, mealtime is disrupted by television programs.

Some homes go so far as to change their dining habits and eat in front of the "tube"; each member is isolated in his absorption in the program.

Is it any wonder some mothers feel like putting their foot right like putting their foot down and to regulate television viewing. Naturally, fights and discussion ensue.

There are some parents who have a television in the house. As a result, the children go to the neighbors home to watch their TV. Or they must keep complaining that they have been denied what "the other kids" have.

Because television is here to stay, it presents problems we must learn to solve rather than to resent.

When there is a quarrel over who is to watch what program, parents may either keep out of fights or turn the set off until the opposing "armies" resolve their differences of opinion or come to some type of agreement.

Isn't really a matter of who has the "right" to see the evening program. This is a family problem and must be solved by the family.

Should the situation of dissension be very severe, maybe the parents can remove a tube from the set. This way, no one, including the parents, sees any television program until an agreement is reached.

Actually, the TV set is not a problem in itself. It is the picture highlights or emphasizes lack of cooperation between parents and children.

You know well that the content and quality of the television programs is the subject of national concern. Are we to sit back passively and wait for the nation to solve the problem? It is in our homes, and therefore it is here that we must act.

Television doesn't need to be a source of worry—if we know what to do and have confidence in our ability to cope with the problems which it poses.

4-H Girls to Vie at State Fair

AUGUST 9, 1946

Three Granite City girls, all members of the Sand Prairie 4-H Club, will compete in 4-H contests at the Illinois State Fair this month. All three are from the same family—Dolores Hawk and her cousins, Patricia and Jeanne Hawk.

Mary Pollach, a young Girl Scout, of 1722 Ark Ave., has received a letter from a Polish girl thinking her for her collection of clothes sent to Poland. All members of Troop 22 attached a letter to each bundle of clothes they prepared during the national drive.

Dizzy Dean and Johnny Slaughter, announcers of St. Louis baseball games, have been invited to speak at a Madison Rotary Club meeting and may avail themselves of the opportunity sometime this month.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Huber and children, Glen and Jo Ann, of Maryland Place returned this week from a vacation spent at College Camp on Lake Geneva in Wisconsin.

Name and address must accompany each letter but will not be revealed if name is requested. Comments of less than 250 words will be given preference. All are subject to condensation and grammatical changes. The most pertinent or not in general will be selected or edited.

HARD TO WIN THE RACE BETWEEN WAGES, PRICES

To the Editor:

In the July 26 Forum is an interesting letter, "Price-Pay Laid or Lose Forward Product Sales," signed by "Concerned Union Man." He wonders what his friends think about what the fringe benefits, taxes, etc., are costing the industries.

My dear union friend, I believe it is a heck of a lot of money. It is a loaded question though, but let me tell you a few things I experienced in my lifetime.

When I was a young man, I advocated wage and price controls as well as reinstating an excess profit tax in one or two of my letters to the Forum in the early 1940s or five or six years ago.

I stuck my neck out then because the union brass at the time was against these things. I still have not changed my mind on the subject.

Even so, a union man must realize that money is only a medium of exchange.

No matter how much money big business is able to put in his right pocket, there will be twice as much taken out of his left pocket when he is going shopping for the goods, especially since he is by now pretty well accustomed to an affluent life.

If he is fortunate that his wife brings home a check, too, and he has a knack for business, he may have some surplus money which he is going to invest in real estate, the only real solid commodity.

He may even come out on the winning end, but otherwise he will not gain from a race between wages and prices.

Take it from one old union

Labor Movement Here Since 1894; Bennett, Heaton, Gibson Active

With Labor Day approaching and with Granite City Diamond Jubilee focusing thoughts on the past, we'll reminisce a bit about unionism. My father, as I recall, was secretary-treasurer of one of the Steelworker locals in Granite City for about 30 years until retiring.

The labor movement here has had an eventful history dating back to 1894.

During the more than three-quarters of a century since then, union organizations in the Venice-Madison-Granite City-Pontoon Beach-Mitchell area have made major contributions to the welfare of this community and its citizens.

Steady progress has been made in improvement of wages and working conditions, and labor groups have been generous with their time and funds in aiding a wide variety of civic development projects. An example within the past decade was the voluntary construction of a Granite City animal shelter.

It was in the 82nd year of Madison County's history — 77 years ago — that an army of gladiators, plumbers, carpenters, bricklayers, hod carriers, boiler-makers, plasterers and other workmen entered the fields of Kinderhook and began simultaneous construction of four major industrial plants — Markle Lead Works, American Steel Foundry, Granite City Steel Co. and St. Louis Stamping Works.

Labor unions were soon to develop in the Quad-Cities along two major lines — industrial plant organizations and construction workers' crafts.

Local 11 of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers was formally organized Nov. 20, 1899, and the first of annually continued contracts with Granite City Steel Co. was signed shortly thereafter.

Delegates of 18 trade unions met Oct. 6, 1900, at Fort Dodge Hall in Granite City, and the Tri-City Central Trades Council was created, with A. D. Dace named president.

An organizer, John Evans, was chosen in a meeting three weeks later to encourage support for unions and to oppose local sale of non-union tobacco.

The first Labor Day celebration of the Trades Council was held at Horseshoe Lake in 1901, and the $300 proceeds went to the Tin Workers, who were on strike.

In later years, thousands of working men attired in their work clothes marched through the Quad-Cities in annual Labor Day parades.

The first industrial strike of consequence shut down the American Steel Foundry for several months in the spring of 1902 when coremakers, molders and helpers protested the pace of production. Minor clashes took place before the strike was settled.

The Trades Council became politically active in 1903 and in the April elections succeeded in electing all labor nominees among them a candidate for mayor, John Edwards. He received more votes than the total cast for two opponents.

Industrial and building booms from 1905 through 1910 and again with the approach of World War I in 1917 multiplied the number of jobs in plants in the Quad-Cities and skyrocketed the population.

In 1911, a young steelworker, M. E. Kirkpatrick, was elected mayor of Granite City. He served as a man of good will and courageous administrator in intermittent terms to 1922.

Steelworkers in 1912 for the first time won an eight-hour working day in many departments of Granite City Steel and Commonwealth Steel.

A few months later, R. A. Bull, Commonwealth plant superintendent, pronounced the experiment successful in increasing production efficiency, and the eight-hour spread.

Seven years of court litigation by American Steel against the Trades Council began in 1914 when the unions struck in protest over a pay cut.

The U. S. District Court in Springfield declared the council an "unlawful conspiracy" and prohibited picketing. In October 1914, the Clayton Act was passed, legalizing peaceful picketing.

In 1921, the Supreme Court upheld reversal of the Springfield decision and affirmed the right of the Trades Council to exist and represent working men.

A major test of the construction unions began Nov. 4, 1917, when Granite City unionists drove out non-union laborers building city sewers.

Litigation and unrest followed and resulted in formation of a Granite City laborers' local and completion of the job with union labor in April 1920.

After the World War I Armistice was signed, labor unrest grew and work stoppages occurred. With strikes tying up operations at the Corn Products

Bi-State Better Equipped Than East-West To Plan, Build and Operate Rapid Transit

The mass rapid transit system to be proposed for the St. Louis metropolitan area in a final report by consultants during August will need to be operated by some form of "super government"—an agency with transportation jurisdiction which transcends city, county and state boundaries.

Contracting out for the detailed study is the Bi-State Development Agency, which already has considerable experience in transportation—both the horizontal variety, the Bi-State Transit System, and the vertical kind, the Gateway Arch passenger system. A good case can be made for designating this agency as the present form of a modified version, to build and operate rapid transit.

At present, Bi-State is governed by ten commissioners—five each appointed by the governors of Illinois and Missouri. The rapid transit system, its membership perhaps could be revised to achieve more direct responsiveness to the electorate and to reflect the political realities which inevitably involve such fundamental changes and such big expenditures.

It will be recalled that the $1½ billion package involves $1 billion from the federal government and $500 million in funds from this region. Phase I of 32 miles and 28 stations is to cost $633 million. Phase II, including a link with Granite City, totals 54 miles and 31 stations and has an $867 million price tag.

Bi-State has the authority to oversee the design, construction and operation of such a system, having been granted it by Illinois and Missouri legislatures and Congress in a compact approved in 1949.

The East-West Gateway Coordinating Council has expressed interest in "getting into the act" and has moved to form a new metropolitan transit authority. Two thirds of the Council's 21 board members are elected officials but neither it nor its transit unit enjoys by law. The Norris-LaGuardia Act of 1932 limited court injunctions against strikers.

With the Wagner Act of 1935 and creation of a National Labor Relations Board by the federal government, collective bargaining became an accepted part of government philosophy.

Extra-legal means of settling labor disputes virtually disappeared, and a move began to wage greater cooperation between labor and management and between labor unions themselves.

Members of the American Federation of Labor and Congress of Industrial Organizations set a precedent by marching together in a Labor Day parade in 1939, almost two decades before the national merger.

Throughout World War II, unity of purpose of both labor and industries prevailed and the Quad-Cities were relatively free of labor disputes.

After the war, unions staged a wave of strikes, asking for wage increases, and work tie-ups for a while increased in frequency and severity.

Both industrial and construction unions in the Quad-City area have achieved peaceful relations with employers in recent years.

More than 50 locals with a total membership of 23,000 workmen grouped together to form the Tri-City Trades and Labor Council, AFL-CIO. The council centralizes the efforts for better coordination of labor activity.

In recent years, unions in the Quad-Cities have come to be regarded as pioneers in bringing about accord in labor-management relations.

Both industrial unions and the building trades locals have been praised for cooperating with progressive-minded employers to establish company-union relations on an ethical basis and to work toward common goals.

In 1959, when many steel mills in the nation were closed by a 116-day strike, Locals 30, 1022 and 1785 negotiated a labor contract without a work stoppage.

The agreement was for the United Steelworkers and Granite City Steel Co. the Civic Achievement Award for 1959.

United Steelworkers President David J. MacDonald was guest speaker at the award banquet attended by 1,200 people. Lloyd the legal standing that would be needed to operate rapid transit.

The Council, a non-profit private corporation set up by the member governments of its eight-county region, has the primary function of coordinating regional planning and voicing approval or disapproval of projects for which federal funds are sought.

Through its governing board and through additional advisors, East-West Gateway does in a sense represent the views of the public and such groups as educators, labor, business and minorities.

East-West is a far cry from a truly representative body: the Quad-City area, for example, has two regional members but no actual members of the board at present.

East-West would appear to have its hands full enough evaluating the planning of state and governmental agencies in this region without directly competing with them.

Since the Council would make the eventual recommendation to Washington on whether it or Bi-State or someone else developed rapid transit, this could hardly be viewed as fair competition.

Administration Should Actively Seek Steel Import Limits Rather Than Voluntary Pacts

With steel negotiations by major U. S. firms ending in a settlement involving substantial raises and price increases, the stage is set for further inroads by foreign steel producers—unless Uncle Sam takes appropriate action. Even before the 8% U. S. price hike, a study showed more foreign steel has arrived this year than at a similar point in any previous year. Because it is unlikable to let the American steel industry deteriorate further, leaving the nation dependent on other countries for a vital defense material, effective steel import restrictions should be established.

It is not merely a question of equal quotas or tariffs. Additional, subtler restraints have been imposed by such countries as Japan while they simultaneously pledge and then circumvent voluntary guidelines. The net effect has been fewer American steel exports but steadily rising imports.

Many legislators have seen the need for more decisive federal action, but the executive branch has consistently hoped for voluntary agreements which have failed to solve the workmen's problem.

The administration and Congress ought to take a new, clear look at the situation—and soon.

Awards from Realtors, Insurance Agents To Those Active in Developing Community

Hats are off to William John Steele, Herman R. Mueller, Alfred H. Gehlert, George W. Stearns, Douglas F. Little and John Wesley Bennett, who were honored Thursday evening by the Granite City Board of Realtors and the Tri-City Independent Insurance Agents Association.

The award recipients include men whose foresight and energy were responsible for many developments now an integral part of this community. Their timely efforts helped enable the local area to grow and to meet the needs of its original and newer residents.

New Gas Pipeline Being Installed

AUGUST 9, 1921

Large forces of men are busy laying a new eight-inch pipeline from the plant coke ovens of the St. Louis Coke & Chemical Co. here to the Blair County Gas & Electric Co. plant at Blair, Mo. The coke ovens provide an inexhaustible supply of gas and much of it now is going to waste. East St. Louis will be the first city to utilize the pure coal gas. The gas will be transmitted in a pipeline in the cast iron pipe, and a purifying process will be necessary.

The East Side Levee and Sanitary District board has granted to Flint P. Ernest, an oil man, real estate operator and East St. Louis park board president, the right to install, maintain and operate two oil pipelines on and along the right-of-way of the levee board's Project No. 1 from the Cahokia Creek diversion channel north of Madison to the Mobile & Ohio Railroad's right-of-way south of East St. Louis.

McBride, Steelworkers sub-director, accepted the award for the unions and Lyle E. Culley accepted for the Steel firm.

Since succeeded by I. W. Abel, MacDonald in referring to the 659 bargaining sessions said, "Labor and management should concern themselves with civic affairs instead of restricting their meetings to contract negotiations and a collective bargaining."

The Quad-City area, he said, enjoys "a reputation as one of the finest labor areas in America."

Construction unions were cited in the All-America City award to Granite City for adopting the revolutionary ten-point "code of ethics" with contractors' associations to eliminate major jurisdictional work stoppages.

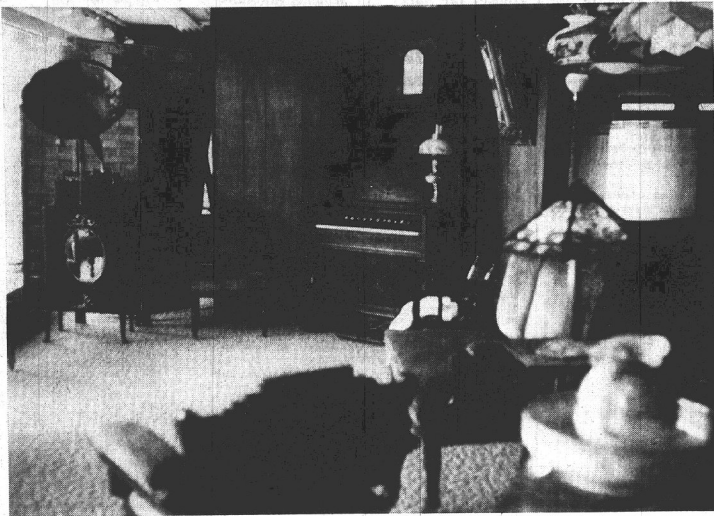

President Eisenhower's Secretary of Labor, James Mitchell, who attended the All-America City banquet in February, 1959, called the pact a "unique labor-management peace agreement."

It provided for settling of disputes by negotiating boards without work stoppages.

The plan was endorsed by international union organizations and has spread to areas beyond the Quad-City area.

A Granite City landmark, the Labor Temple, was built more than five decades ago after original plans were made in November 1917. Carl Heaton was among those most active in supervising its operation through the years of Edwin F. Reiske maintains the building at 204 State St. The building was built by the "house of labor" in the Quad-

Industry Programs Trying To Curb Drunk Driving

By EDWARD NEILAN
Copy News Service

Washington — Fresh attention is being paid to the old saying "The most important component in an automobile is the nut behind the wheel."

Especially when the nut — or driver — is drunk. Consumer champions have forced the auto industry to scramble to lower exhaust emissions that cause pollutants, improve tire safety standards, strengthen bumpers and make seat belts mandatory.

Now the industry is fighting back with pressure to make the man behind the wheel behave better. The drunk driver on American highways is a national disaster and a national disgrace. Records culled from Podunk to Pittsburgh, from Blackwell's Corners to Boston show that there are six to seven million drivers in the country who have a severe drinking problem.

An even more unimpeachable statistic: those drunks were involved in more than 20,000 of the 35,000 highway deaths in 1970.

Record Worsens

After they're running ahead of that performance after the first six months of 1971. Repeated arrests, accidents, license suspensions and other penalties have failed to keep drunks off the road.

Police departments, courts and state motor vehicle agencies so far have failed — obviously — to keep the drunk drivers off the road. Now, however, the drunk driver is going to come under increased surveillance and become a prime target of federal and state governments and the nation's automobile manufacturers.

The National Highway Safety Transportation Agency, which during the last decade has stressed safer vehicles and is now beginning to see a small reduction in fatalities because of its efforts, will begin turning its attention to the driver of the vehicle.

The main focus of concern will be the driver with a severe drinking problem.

Detroit's auto makers have been saying for years that the man behind the wheel bears a greater share of the blame for accidents than "lemon" automobiles or worn parts in vehicles or poor highway conditions.

Has Public Fanny

But during the last few years the campaign to make safer cars has captured the public imagination. Now, officials of the highway agency say, the campaign to improve auto structural and operating safety has started rolling so well that funds and manpower can be shifted to the problem of the unsafe driver.

A further factor is that only recently have several voluminous studies on habits and reactions of drunk drivers been completed. This will allow programs to go beyond the "if you drive, don't drink" slogan stage.

During the next three years, the federal agency will spend nearly $130 million to test ways of preventing drunken drivers from getting on the road.

The European model is being studied carefully. Over there, drunk drivers get rapped very hard on a first conviction.

In Finland, for example, anyone caught driving while drunk must spend two weeks at a labor camp. Three-time losers may never get behind a wheel again.

Less Severe Measures

The U. S. approach will begin with less severe measures. Part of the new program will be testing of devices on cars that will make it impossible for intoxicated drivers to start or drive their cars.

Upgrading law enforcement will be another vital part of the plan. Another will be efforts to get the courts to force convicted drunk drivers to seek rehabilitation.

Skeptics claim the challenge of keeping drunks from behind the wheel is monumental. One federal official likened it in toughness to "ending the war in Vietnam."

There is determination, however, that rehabilitation of drunk drivers, rather than stigmatizing, will help lessen the problem.

Doug Toms, director of the federal safety agency's new program, said, "The premise of our program is that these are sick people who need to be rehabilitated."

A Few Beers

Research by the agency, he said, revealed that of the more than 20,000 traffic deaths attributed to drunken drivers in 1970, about one-third were social drinkers ("All I had were a few beers, officer") while two-thirds were caused by problem drinkers.

Toms said the agency defines "problem drinkers" as any driver whose blood alcohol level at the time of an accident is .10 or more.

One recent survey showed that 60 per cent of the drivers with a severe drinking problem continued to drive after their licenses had been suspended.

Why are police and the courts unable to enforce control of drunken drivers?

Police officials say that increasing pressures in the last 10 years to deal with violent crimes has caused a shift in manpower out of traffic operation.

The Detroit Police Department, for example, shifted 100 men from traffic enforcement in 1968 to regular police work. The loss to the traffic force has not been replaced.

Police motivation, experts say, is also affected by public apathy. Police officers are also often disappointed by the lack of action taken by the courts after an arrest has been made for drunken driving.

In many states, a drunken driver, using the services of a sharp lawyer, can plead guilty to the lesser charge of reckless driving on the grounds that he will lose his job if he loses his driving license.

Thus the offender is very often a free man after paying a nominal fine.

Aggravates Problem

Police officials complain that there is an increasing tendency on the part of judges to wink at drunken driving cases. This is due partly to the heavy case loads and also to the fact that depriving a suburbanite of his driver's license renders him virtually immobile. That, say some judges, only aggravates the problem of the heavy drinker.

The emphasis of the federal program over the next three years will be to find ways of keeping convicted drunks off

Music Sales Hit Billion Mark in U. S.

By CARL W. RITTER
Copy News Service

One of the seldom-mentioned investment areas is that of the musical instrument makers, yet theirs was a billion-dollar business last year.

Looking back over the last 10 years, U. S. music industry sales increased 101 per cent and exceeded the gain scored by gross national product.

Looking ahead, one of every seven American households expects to buy a musical instrument within the next 12 months, based on a survey by University of Chicago's National Opinion Research Center.

More than 70 per cent of this country's leading music dealers said 1971 looks like a better year than record-breaking 1970.

Organs were never more popular. Last year $215.4 million was spent for 137,500 organs in the United States. Dollar sales of fretted instruments—guitars, banjos, mandolins, ukuleles and amplification equipment for them—climbed 51 per cent in 1970, and musical accessories sales were up 13.5 per cent from 1969.

Plans for this year indicate more guitars will be sold than any other instrument, with pianos running a strong second.

Big Investment

American families have more than $15 billion invested in musical instruments they use at home, according to the American Music Conference's 1971 annual report. This doesn't take into account the instruments owned by schools, religious institutions or amateur and professional bands and orchestras. The survey indicated nearly 24 million American households own at least one musical instrument.

The first AMC research into buying intentions and ownership also indicated each of these is a prime candidate for at least one additional purchase.

Seven of the 12 major categories for gauging the music industry registered advances in 1970. They were organs, guitars, woodwinds, accordions, accessories, sheet music and self-instruction aids.

There were modest declines in the sales of pianos, stringed instruments excluding the fretted, brass instruments, drums and miscellaneous instruments.

The miscellaneous category includes autoharps, bongos, conga drums, concertinas, cymbals, educational instruments, electronic pianos, harmonicas, harps, harpsichords, marimbas, melodicas, recorders, zithers and xylophones. Harmonicas were easily the most popular in this group in 1970, with well over 2 million sold.

ATTEND FUNERAL AT INDEPENDENCE, MO.

Mrs. Jo Ross and daughter, Miss Jackie Ross, 671 Washington Ave., have returned from Independence, Mo., where they attended the funeral of the former's uncle, Roma Huttell.

While away they were also guests of Mrs. Ross' brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Hopson, in Kansas City. Mr. Huttell was a brother-in-law of Mrs. Frank Jones, 2673 Washington Ave.

Struck While Parking

While he was backing his auto into a parking space in the 1300 block of Niedringhaus Ave. at 4:10 p.m. Friday, Clarence A. Koeller, 2224 E. 24th St., told police, the car was struck by a westbound car operating on the rear door, after tearing the screen door.

Antibiotics Stolen

An undetermined amount of antibiotics were stolen from a refrigerator in a burglary of the office of Dr. M. G. Baggett, 3410 Nameoki Road, on Saturday afternoon. It was reported at 3:25 p.m. Sunday. Entry was gained by breaking the rear door window.

Attempted Burglary

An attempted burglary at the home of David Beck, 2139 Missouri Ave., occurred Saturday evening, police reported at 12:25 a.m. Sunday.

Police said an effort to break into the house was made by a westbound car operating on the rear door, after tearing the screen door.

SIU-SW Clocks Better, Cheaper Due to Students

Three hundred clocks on the southwestern campus of Southern Illinois University are operating better, thanks to six engineering design students at SIU-SW.

As a class project the six designed a master electronic clock which controls clocks in all SIU-SW buildings. The electronic clock replaces a mechanical master time piece which has proven unsatisfactory.

The new clock was built using basic digital computer components and circuitry. It is accurate to within one-thousandth of a second, according to Martin A. Berkbigler of Granite City, one of the six students involved in the project.

All were enrolled in an engineering class taught by William Hord, an associate professor in the Science and Technology Division.

"These students took the engineering design class seriously," said Julius Brown, chairman of the engineering faculty, "and their hard work and ingenuity has culminated in the completion of the master clock, at a considerable savings to the university."

Dave Mohler, the university's instrument mechanic, said the electronic clock will save the university thousands of dollars. He pointed out that the present mechanical clock requires an average of one hour of maintenance a day.

"That amounts to $3000 per year for just maintenance," he said, "and that doesn't include parts or the time of the operating engineers who have to reset the clocks in the campus buildings after a breakdown." Mohler said the repairman from the clock company charges $20 an hour.

$470 in Parts

The new electronic master

clock has been plugged into the system for one month without a single problem and anyone could set this clock as opposed to a highly trained technician for the old one, Mohler said. The university has approximately $470 in parts invested in the electronic clock.

The electronic clock will be permanently installed in the Heating and Refrigeration plant as soon as the work load permits, Raymond Bitrick, superintendent of utilities at SIU-SW, said.

As future projects, engineering students may be asked to build transmitters for each building to eliminate expensive generators used to activate the clocks.

Mohler said that the generators cost approximately $1,800 and he estimates the students could build a transmitter for around $300.

The six engineering students who designed and built the master clock are Tom Barnett, St. Peters, Mo.; Martin A. Berkbigler of Granite City; Tony Mitroff of Belleville; Winford D. Newsum and William Rickman of Hazelwood, Mo.; and Dave Rudy of East St. Louis.

Stereo Tapes Stolen

John Lisac, 2724 Harvey Place, reported at 7:45 p.m. Thursday that four stereo tapes valued at $8 each were stolen from his locked auto parked at his home during the night.

MASTER CLOCK. Martin A. Berkbigler of Granite City, an engineering student at Southern Illinois University-Southwestern, makes final adjustments on the new electronic clock (foreground) which will replace the mechanical grandfather clock as a class project in engineering design. The clock will regulate more than 300 clocks in campus buildings. The electronic clock was built with approximately $470 worth of parts.

'Granite City' Song a Jubilee Gift to the City

Among the many Granite City Diamond Jubilee observances is the presentation to the municipality and local residents of a song, "Granite City," by the writers, Jack Johnson and Mrs. Lily Chaboude.

Lyrics included: "Granite City, how I love that town! "Granite City—love the sight and sound. Where the folks so dear to me make you welcome; you wait and see."

"Come on, go with me to that friendly place. It's the city of the smiling face."

"Never met a stranger yet, if you want to bet, in Granite City, my home."

Mrs. Chaboude relates that "about a year ago, I wrote a parody and Jack Johnson adapted a melody for a song called 'Just mention the name of Granite City' for our national Business and a Professional Women's convention."

"I used it just to advertise the home town at the gathering of 50 states."

Original Words, Melody
"Jack and I promised to write an original melody and words that could be legally copyrighted and presented to the city for the Jubilee, 'Granite' is the promised work."

"This is our birthday present to our beloved home town. The copyright is pending, and I have enlisted the aid of Congressman Melvin Price to cut the government red tape so that we may legally copyright and assign all rights to the city of Granite City as soon as possible."

"We have made a tape. So have Paul Mabry and Christie Ascher. Valerie Stevens also has made a tape and the Mississippi Valley barbershop singing group has made a reel."

Mayor Donald Parney tells us he loves the home town song.

"It's just our way of showing

SIU-SW Camp Partial Answer

Idle Summer Bad for Child With Emotional Problems

Summer vacations have positive effects on most people, but for a child with emotional problems, "vacations have negative effects," according to Thomas Shea, director of the remediation and recreation camp program on the southwestern campus of Southern Illinois University.

The camp has no tuition or costs to the children, and is in operation from 9 a.m. until 9 p.m. daily.

The camp is paid by a grant from the Office of the State Superintendent of Public Instruction in cooperation with the SIU-SW special education faculty and Special Education Districts Region 1, 11, 111 of Madison County.

Shea said research shows that two or three months away from remediation (classroom instruction) and treatment has negative effects on the social, emotional and academic development of the exceptional child.

"The layoff compounds the problem for a child who is two or three years behind his peers anyway."

Serve 46 Children
The anticipated regression was a major consideration for establishing Camp R & R for 46 children from this region who have learning disorders and are emotionally handicapped. The camp is located at SIU-SW special education center on Lewis Road.

Camp R & R (Remediation and Recreation) is designed to eliminate social and educational regression and to accelerate the child's remedial process. In addition, Shea said, the camp our love and appreciation for our city and the people who live here."

provides a practicum setting for future teachers and clinicians enrolled at SIU-SW.

Special education directors of Madison and St. Clair counties submitted names of students for the camp who were already enrolled in special education programs or who were identified as needing the training service.

In regard to the students enrolled in the camp, Shea said, "An assessment of the individual child's needs was made through meetings and consultation with teachers and school personnel, administrators and parents."

Instruction, Recreation
"All campers participate in a two-hour instructional program in the mornings. This has been developed to meet the child's special school needs. The individual instructional programs take into consideration the child's sensory-perceptual motor capabilities and emotional and social development."

"The recreational component of the program includes field sports, swimming, arts and crafts, and nature study. All activities operate at a maximum of three children to one counselor to insure safety and supervision."

"There are 140 university students working at the camp for one hour a week as an assignment from their special education classes during the summer quarter. Other students and area faculty members have donated time to the camp programs."

Shea joined the special education faculty as an associate professor in the Education Division in September 1970. He had served previously on the faculty of SIU-Carbondale and at the University of Connecticut.
